DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-11 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The prior art does not disclose the liquid crystal display of claim 1, in particular the limitations of first electrode sections having first thickness and height, and separate second electrode sections having second thickness and height, the first thickness being thicker than the second thickness, and the first height being higher than the second height, and areas of the first and second electrode sections in total being equal. [Note that the previous rejection in view of Kubo, U.S. Patent No. 6,195,140, has been overcome as discussed in the Interview of 25 November 2003 by specifying "separate" second electrode sections. The first electrode sections and second electrode sections in Kubo are not separate.] Claim 1 is therefore allowed, as are claims 2-8 which depend from claim 1.

The prior art does not disclose the projector of claim 9, in particular the limitations of a liquid crystal display with first and second electrode sections having different heights, and areas in total being equal, in a projector comprising a light source, polarization beam splitter, and projection lens. Claim 9 is therefore allowed, as is claim 10 which depends on claim 9.

The prior art does not disclose the liquid crystal display of claim 11, in particular the limitations of first and second electrode sections having different heights, areas in total being equal, an area of each first electrode section and an area of each second electrode section being equal to each other, and (the additional limitation of the previous claim 6, indicated as allowable in a previous office action) that the sections are arranged in a matrix so that a group of a specific number of the first and a group of a specific number of the second are adjacent to each other. Here, based on the specification and Fig. 6, the examiner understands "arranged in matrix so that a group of a specific number" to exclude a group of one (the situation in the previously rejected claim 5), and to exclude alternating rows extending all the way across the display (the situation in the previously rejected claim 7). Claim 11 is therefore allowed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
